Dear Anny Bannany

Dear Anny Bannany,

I am so embarrassed! I had just been to the Doctor for a barium enema due to a stomach disturbance, I was feeling pretty good and decided to go shopping at a local department store. While in the dressing room trying on several items, I thought I had accidentally passed some gas when in fact I had inadvertently crapped right in the slacks that I was intending to buy. What a mess! With all that white barium it looked like a giant seagull had done the dirty deed. I didn't know what to do so just I put the bloody crapped slacks back on the hanger and onto the rack they came from and snuck out of the store. Crimey! Did I do the right thing?

Signed,
Mortified

Dear Mortified,
Sh-t happens! Next time shop at Walmart. Crimey crapped slacks and I don't care...
Regards,
Anny Bannany

Bartender of the Month Jim Mazelin

See Him at Gilbert's Resort

You never have to worry when Jim is bartending. If he knows you he will crack a smile as your drink arrives before you even have a chance to sit down. If anyone gets belligerent they are promptly escorted off the property. This guy is all business. He is there to make sure your service is fast and you have a good time.

Jim and his beautiful wife Julie live in Cutler Ridge with their 10-year-old daughter, Santanna, who is a chip off the old block. During "Take your kid to work week" Santanna jumped behind the bar like a pro and picked up the job faster than a lot of adults, and she was every bit as serious about it as her old man. This comes as no surprise since she has practically been raised in the bar business. Jim owned and operated The Pelican Nest in Cutler Ridge for 6 years. He tells us he loves his job at Gilbert's because there aren't the headaches you have when you own your own place. At the end of his shift he can go home to his family and forget about it.

The regular customers and his co-workers love him because he is hard working and lovable.

"To know him is to love him," says Georgeanne.

"He doesn't take any crap and is pretty much his own security," says Houseboat Rob. "But his bark is worse than his bite" replies Trina.

Georgeanne sums it up the best. She says, "to know him is to love him".

Stop by Gilbert's Tuesday, Friday, Saturday or Sunday days and congratulate him, he is a true professional.

See the Gilbert's Resort advertisement on page 16 for listings of what entertainment and food is offered at the location.
