Editorial: Ocean Reef Club & Some Words of Wisdom

The Coconut Telegraph is happy to announce that we are back on Ocean Reef property. Residents can pick up a copy at Gardener's Market, Kim's Cafe, Pac Mail, the Library and Medical Center. Or go to theconchtelegraph.com and read it online. We have partnered with the Ocean Reef Radio Station WORZ and even have a special Coconut Telegraph rate to reach thousands of listeners. Here's how you can listen in, go to www.worzfm.us. The user name is: member (lower case) and the password is: ORC (upper case). You won't ever want to switch stations again.

WORZ 104.3 FM, "Ocean Reef Public Radio, Inc." is a 501C Not for Profit Station that is run by the members for the members of Ocean Reef and Angler's Club. The advertisers are the programs sponsors. The members of Ocean Reef have high standards and expect the best, and that's what you'll get with WORZ. For information on how your business can get these low rates call me at 305-304-2837.

Another thought...

When I moved from a small town in upstate New York to the Keys 20 years ago I was shocked at the amount of people living in South Florida that cannot read or write. They cannot even fill out a job application. In this day and age I believe it is a matter of choice not to learn just as it is my choosing to not learn Spanish. I just manage to get by without it. Still, it is not nice to sit around and tell jokes about illiterate people.... you should write them.

For those of us that are somewhat slow at math, remember that alcohol and calculus don't mix... you should never drink and derive.

Band Concert to Benefit Local Food Bank

The Concert Bands from Key Largo School, Plantation Key School and Coral Shores High School will all perform Thursday, April 26th at 7pm.

The annual Tri-School Concert is coming early this year. This is the concert where students from the Upper Key's three great school band programs combine, for their fun, and your entertainment. Each group will play one selection then combine with their other school's counterpart for a combined performance. Also featured will be a musical visit to the workshop of Vulcan, the blacksmith god of fire and volcanoes in Roman mythology. "The Forge of Vulcan" will combine both middle schools with the high school concert band in a "not to be missed" performance. The Coral Shores award winning concert and jazz band will also play to round out the evening. The concert should last just over an hour.

In addition, this year's concert will help out the local food bank.

Price of Admission is a donation of something for the Burton Memorial Food Bank. Healthy Energy and You

Brought to you by Remedy's Health Food

In this world of stress and over-extension we find ourselves working more hours and under greater stress. How can we compensate and rectify the effects on our body and mind? Following are a few practical suggestions on how to not only feel more energetic, but have greater clarity of thinking.

1. Feed Your Body

During these difficult economic times the first thing that goes is our nutrition. Even though the majority of us understand what we should eat the reality is that other aspects of our life can take control and our nutrition can and will suffer greatly. Take thirty seconds a day and think about your diet: Am I eating enough vegetables, fruit and protein? Is my intake of water sufficient? Is the food that I am taking in counterproductive to my health progress? In answering these question you can honestly you can have a firm foundation in which to build your energy levels.

2. Refresh and Restore Your Body

There is little if no doubt that sleep deprivation has become the norm in our society. In the 1800's people went to bed with the sunset and awakened with the sunrise. To day the average American gets only 6.8 hours sleep during the week and 7.4 on the weekend. If you are having difficulty sleeping here are a few suggestions:

- a. A relaxation response can be initiated with simply taking seven or eight slow deep breaths. Breathe in through your nose slowly, count to four. Hold the breath count to three, and exhale as slowly as you are able through pursed lips, counting to eight.
- b. Take a mental vacation. Visualize the colors, feel the sun on your face, listen to the birds. Your mind can only think of one thing at a time, why not make it a pleasant thought so as to relax the mind.
- c. Be realistic about what is causing your sleep deprivation. Is the reality a realistic expectation in you mind? Is it really as bad as it could be or are our fear-based stress a productive use of our mental capacity? This will relax the mind and give you permission to sleep.
- d. If you still have difficulty sleeping try some natural remedies. Valerian, Hops, L-Theanine, Jamaican Dogwood, Rhodiola Rosea, Melatonin, etc. These need to be the best quality that you can obtain, simply for the fact that there are many low-quality supplements on the market, your health and sleep is worth more than a corporation trying to save a few dollars.

3. Rebalance Your Body

Get moving, your body was made to be on the move. Try Pilates or go to the gym. Get outside and breath some fresh air or get our on the boat and in the water. Go play golf or tennis, at the end of the day feel that you have a sense of accomplishment. This will refresh the mind and create a need for the body to rest. Try taking a high quality multi vitamin, one without a ton of additive. Stay away from supplementation that has toxic minerals. As a whole any nationally advertised supplement will contain things like food coloring or aluminum or titanium. If you are trying to improve your health you may want to think seriously about the long-term consequences of such items.

In short, be proactive about getting more energy. Look at your food, supplementation, sleep and any other aspect that can contribute to your well being. Come see us at Remedy's and we will do all we can to assist you.

Give Your Gift to the World Being Happy with Your Job

In our search to define ourselves, we often look to our job to show us our worth. Society does not judge all professions equally, however, and it is not uncommon for the individuals who hold what others may consider to be ordinary or menial jobs to feel that they themselves are ordinary or menial. Yet, in truth, many wonderful and wise people throughout history have held what have typically been perceived as ordinary jobs, and this in no way has had any bearing on whether or not they have managed to contribute their skills and talents to the world. Whether you work in business, education, medicine, retail, or another profession, your worth is inherent to who you are and not what you do for a living.

A job that you enjoy, lets you meet your needs, and allows you to live in accordance with your values will always be more gratifying than a high-status job that you dislike. But while experiencing professional satisfaction can be a vital part of being fulfilled by your work, it is important to remember that it is possible to find happiness in any job. This is because what you do is often less important than how you do it. Your attitude and intention can turn a mediocre job into work that fulfills you because of the way that you approach it. If you do your job well and what you do benefits others, then you are doing work that is making this world a better place.

If you are happy in your current line of work and feel that it allows you to be yourself and live authentically while meeting your emotional and physical needs and allowing time for you to enjoy the fruits of your labor, then you have found a job that adds value to your life. If you are a waitress, then be the best waitress you can, take pride in your work and others will notice your passion. You can contribute your talents and skills to this world while doing any job. It is not the kind of work you do that allows you to be of service. It is you who must choose to be of service through the work that you do.

Outsmart the Recession: Save Money, Even Make Some

By Rich and Rachel Peine

The Upper Keys have a number of resources to help you outsmart the recession, whether you're buying, selling, donating, or volunteering. For example, those single earrings taking up space in your jewelry box could put more money in your pocket than you think, because the price of gold is off the charts right now. A friend of mine took a few odd gold pieces into Coral Financial Jewelry and Pawnshop, the other day and walked out very pleasantly surprised and $200 richer. More about that later.

You can outsmart the recession, save money, and feel good about yourself when you shop at stores that benefit the local community. Did you know you can get a tax writeoff for donations to the Salvation Army, the Habitat for Humanity Store, and the MARC thrift store? Improve your feng shui and unclutter your life. You can even get furniture picked up - no muss, no fuss, no worry.

You never know what you'll find when you walk into "Sally's" in Key Largo. Barbara, the manager of the Salvation Army store, told me she once sold a Moose head, antlers and all, for $500. The guy strapped it on top of his truck and headed home to Montana. I know people who scout the store daily, scooping the cream off the new arrivals. Need a wedding dress? Sleeping bag? Tropical shirt? Browse the aisles! Your donation to the Salvation Army store helps their work in feeding the hungry, sheltering the homeless, and providing disaster relief. When the Red River flooded in Fargo, North Dakota last month, the Salvation Army set up mobile food stations, filled sandbags, and provided shelter for people whose homes were under water. So, you can feel good that you helped in that relief effort by supporting the store. The Key Largo store is open Monday through Friday 9:00 - 4:00 and Saturday 9:00 - 3:00, 100109 Overseas Highway, Oceanside.

Visit Elsa, Barbara and Shelly and shop the deals at the Savation Army Store in Key Largo.

Michelle Carhohan Manager of the Habitat for Humanity Store in Key Largo has some great stuff and some real bargains.

The Habitat for Humanity Store in Key Largo has the feel of a designer furniture showroom. Everything is like new, but priced way below retail. I saw a Liz Claiborne armoire, a comfy leather chair, and some Drexel Heritage pieces. Their focus is home décor, including a number of prints by Alan Maltz, official wildlife photographer for the state of Florida, for fraction of the cost in his gallery in Key West. The proceeds go to help building homes in our community, including five in Key Largo scheduled for this summer. Michele, the manager, has been a volunteer with Habitat since their beginning in the Upper Keys, and she is the owner of the first home they built. You can call her about donations, and she'd love some volunteers to help in the store or pick up furniture. Store hours are Monday through Saturday, 10:00 - 4:00 at 98970 Overseas Highway, in the median. The number is 453-7855.

One of the not so well known places for bargain hunting is the MARC thrift shop in Islamorada. MARC stands for Monroe Association for Retarded Citizens. This is a great place to shop and help your neighbors at the same time.

MARC provides training in work, life and social skills to mentally and physically disabled folks here in the keys. Some MARC clients work at the MARC offices in Key West and Islamorada and others work in the community. MARC contracts with businesses for tasks that their clients can perform. Examples are filling envelopes and packing t-shirts in plastic bags.

The store has everything you would want in a good thrift shop. Think furniture, clothes, electronics, books - the list goes on. It is located on the ocean side on Plantation Key just north of the Coral Shores High School on the grounds of Coral Isles Church. Look for the big red chair outside. The Hours are 10:00 to 2:00 Monday through Friday.

Finally, let's get back to Coral Financial. I asked Bill, the owner, how a pawnshop works. If you need a short-term loan, bring in an item to pawn. He'll lend you a percentage of the value for 30 days. When you return with the balance, you get your item back. That's pretty straightforward. He'll also buy outright, like the jewelry I mentioned earlier. In addition to the pawnshop, Bill specializes in new and classic bicycles. He's got one hanging from the ceiling that's really rare. It's a 1988 Bowden Spacelander, originally designed in 1946 after the Buck Rogers Rocket Patrol. If you have to ask how much it costs, you can't afford it! I guess Rich didn't see the large signs saying "Do Not Touch", because he startled us by beeping the horn on one of the expensive bikes. Oops! If you've never been in, stop by and say hello to Bill and Alan. They're there 9:00 to 6:00 Monday through Saturday, at 102071 Overseas Highway, Oceanside.

So, whether you're buying, selling, volunteering, or pawning, make the recession work for you. There are many resources for the resourceful in the Upper Keys.

Frank B. Patterson of WORZ 104.3 Ocean Reef Radio

Frank Patterson was "off the rock" at the time of this interview so we had to do it by email and telephone.

CT: How did you get involved with radio?
 FP: I started a radio station in High School with a few other students and also worked at my college station WSLY 1600AM, Wesley College, Dover, Delaware as the afternoon Diver DJ. I then went on to writing insurance coverage for radio stations in the early 80's. I became a partner in a large group of stations with locations in CA, NV, AL, SC and OH that were ultimately purchased by Clear Channel.

CT: What is unique about WORZ?
 FP: When I built it in 1994 it was WORC FM, a cable TV audio channel. When we got our FCC License in 1999 we became WORZ and the first station in the country to become fully automated.

CT: You split your time between Greenville, SC and Key Largo?
 FP: Yes, I am building other community radio and TV stations for some very exclusive communities in western NC and SC. My family, wife Frances (of 27 years) and sons Hunter (23) and Bryant (17), live in Greenville and we also have a lake home on Lake Keowee. I'm spending a lot of time up here building the stations. Starting in May WORZ will be adding 2 South Florida TV Stations to its partners in media.

CT: What benefit will there be to the Keys with TV Stations at WORZ?
 FP: It will bring more coverage to the Keys and not just Ocean Reef. The stations like our location because we are so mid-way from Ft. Lauderdale, Miami and the Keys. Just their offices and a small studio will be located there and it will give WORZ more resources to broadcast additional information that will be beneficial to our listeners.

CT: Now that you are streaming who are your listeners?
 FP: We are now getting an average of 325,000 plus hits a month in the Keys, thanks to the advertisement in the Coconut Telegraph. The members of ORC and Angler's Club listen at home, in their car and even in their golf carts! Remember, in addition to the 2,000+ homes and docks there are also some 4,800+ social members that do not live there that listen on line. There is also a member class called Legacy, these are children of members that have their own membership. I don't know the exact number of them but I'm guessing around 1,200. The average listener listens on the web for over 5 hours. The station is aired 24/7, 365 days a year but we only do Sponsorship Spots during the day (6:00 AM to 10:00 PM). WORZ does not sell advertising; we receive sponsorships as we are a 501 C corporation. We only take up to 45 commercial sponsors a year. Each sponsor gets to participate in many ways with the Ocean Reef and Angler's Club communities. In addition, WORZ will interview each sponsor in detail and air that interview many times throughout the year.
 CT: What are the people at Ocean Reef really like?

FP: I have been coming to ORC since the early eighties and the members have become some of my very best friends and extended family, as well as many throughout the Keys. They are very caring, down to earth people. By owning the station I have had the opportunity to get involved with many of the charities and community functions that I may not have taken the time to do otherwise.

CT: What do you like about ORC and the Upper Keys?
 FP: Ocean Reef has many interesting people that care about the community they live in. They participate in not only functions at ORC but have helped with many charities in the Keys and South Florida. I love the water, it gives me a feeling of serenity, and being a cancer survivor I cherish every day. In the Keys I feel like I am part of one big family. I hope that when my wife and I retire we will have more time to visit the Keys together and relax. One of the neat things about ORC is that 90% of the transportation is on golf carts. Advantage Golf Carts supplies the station with EZGO carts to use. This is great as it saves a lot of money on gas and makes ORC and Angler's Club a greener community.

CT: What do you like to create?
 FP: I love creating the show. In the industry we call the creator, sponsor or producer of the show the "angel". Well, I do not expect to be known as an angel but I like coming up with new ideas that help the station and its sponsors. At WORZ I like to do programming that is not on any other stations, and I have the luxury of personally knowing most of my listeners and they do not hesitate to call in and let me know what they like or dislike.

CT: What are your plans for the future?
 FP: My goal is to work better with other local stations. In this market and economy we all need to work together. I still believe that local radio is best. Satellite cannot provide the instant information that we need during an emergency that we can. Now with the merger of XM and Sirius followed by Chapter 11 we are finding that they cannot get to the market place the way local radio can.

Sound System Donated to Senior Center

Liz Young (right) and Andrea Comstock (middle) of the Florida Keys Council of the Arts test the new sound system for the Monroe County Senior Center in Plantation Key generously donated by Dave Feder (left) of Islamorada Community Entertainment (ICE). As a musician participating with the Arts Council's Senior Lunchtime Concert Series, Dave took it upon himself to purchase and donate a good portable system that would serve the center's needs for any public speaking, educational or entertainment events scheduled there. The Arts Council is pleased to partner with artists and arts organizations such as Dave and ICE who are dedicated to bringing the arts to all members of the community. According to Dave, "It is one of those very rewarding opportunities that comes from being involved with ICE. But ultimately it is the community at large, who in supporting our efforts, should really be thanked."

Dear Anny Bannany

Dear Anny Bannany,

I have a slow leak in one of my tires and I don't know what to do. A friend said that it could cause my tire to blow up. That could be extremely unsafe, especially if I had a couple of drinks so I am afraid to go anywhere. What can I do? My social life has gone down the tube.

Signed,
Air Hole

Dear Air Hole,

You are darn tootin'. A bad tire could cause an accident and so could drinking and driving! If you don't want to sit around and stare at your blow hole all day call Mom's Taxi 852-6000. They will pick you up and bring you safely back home for much less money than a trip to the jail.

Anny Bannany had a slow leak too and called Bryan Wheaton at B & B Mobile Tire Service 942-6325. These two drop-dead gorgeous guys showed up and went right to work on my tire. It was amazing to see these hunks work. It's like having your own personal pit crew! I watched in awe as they zipped around my car, and all at a good price.

After that Anny Bannany went to Valley of the Diva's and bought a new bathing suit, then she went to the liquor store and bought an ice pick and a bottle of wine so she can poke a hole in her tire, and sit on the porch with a glass of wine, catch some sun and watch these studly guys do it again.

Now that's what living in the Keys is all about!

Sincerely,
Anny Bannany

Age Activated Attention Deficit Disorder.

Recently I was diagnosed with A.A.A.D.D. Age Activated Attention Deficit Disorder.

This is how it manifests:

I decide to water my garden. As I turn on the hose in the driveway, I look over at my car and decide it needs washing.

As I start toward the garage, I notice mail on the porch table that I brought up from the mailbox earlier.

I decide to go through the mail before I wash the car. I lay my car keys on the table, put the junk mail in the garbage can under the table, and notice that the can is full.

So, I decide to put the bills back on the table and take out the garbage first.

But then I think, since I'm going to be near the mailbox when I take out the garbage anyway, I might as well pay the bills first.

I take my checkbook off the table, and see that there is only one left. My extra checks are on my desk in the study, so I go inside the house to my desk where I find the can of Pepsi I'd been drinking.

I'm going to look for my checks but first I need to push the Pepsi aside so that I don't accidentally knock it over. The Pepsi is getting warm so I decide to put it in the refrigerator to keep it cold.

As I head toward the kitchen with the Pepsi, a vase of flowers on the counter catches my eye—they need water. I put the Pepsi on the counter and discover my reading glasses that I've been searching for all morning.

I decided I better put them back on my desk, but first I'm going to water the flowers.

I set the flowers back down on the counter, to fill a container with water and suddenly spot the TV remote. Someone had left it on the kitchen table.

I realize that tonight when we go to watch TV, I'll be looking for the remote but I won't remember that it's on the kitchen table so I decide to put it back in the den where it belongs, but first I'll water the flowers.

I pour some water in the flowers but quite a bit spills on the floor.

So, I set the remote back on the table, get some towels and wipe up the spill.

Then I head down the hall trying to remember what I was planning to do.

At the end of the day: the hose has been running since noon, the car isn't washed, the bills aren't paid, there is warm can of Pepsi sitting on the counter, there is still only one check in my check book, I can't find the remote, I can't find my glasses, I don't remember what I did with the car keys.

Then, when I try to figure out why nothing got done today, I'm really baffled because I know I was busy all damn day and I'm really tired.

I realize that this is a serious problem and I'll try to get some help for it, but first I'll check my e-mail...
