In prison, you get three square meals a day.

whatever you want and attend college for free.

one day leave. In prison, you can spend your free time writing letters or just hang out in your own space all day.

yelled at because somebody's favorite shirt isn't clean.

At home, you cook three square meals a day and try to get your kids to eat it.

At home, you get to read weekly readers starring Dick, Jane, and Spot and worry about how to send Jr. to college and still be able to eat for the next twenty years.

At home, you get to clean your space and everyone else's space, too, and what the heck is free time again?

In prison, they take you everywhere you need to go.

In prison, you get an hour each day in the yard to exercise and mingle.

In prison, all your medical care is free.

In prison, you get your own personal toilet.

At home, you take everybody else where they need to go.

At home you get to clean the yard up so you can mow it so your kids can spread more toys all over it so that you can go out and clean it again because little Jr. can't sleep without his latest lego creation.

At home, you have to pawn your mother's silver and fill out trillions of papers for insurance and hope the doctor will see you before you die.

At home, you have to physically hold the bathroom door shut in order to keep from having someone standing over you demanding to know how long till you're done so you can do something for them.

In prison, the guards transport all your personal effects for you and make sure nothing is missing.

In prison, you get to watch TV, cable even.

In prison, if you have visitors, all you do is go to a room, sit, talk and then say good-bye when you are ready or your time is up.

In prison, the prison laundry takes care of all your dirty clothes.

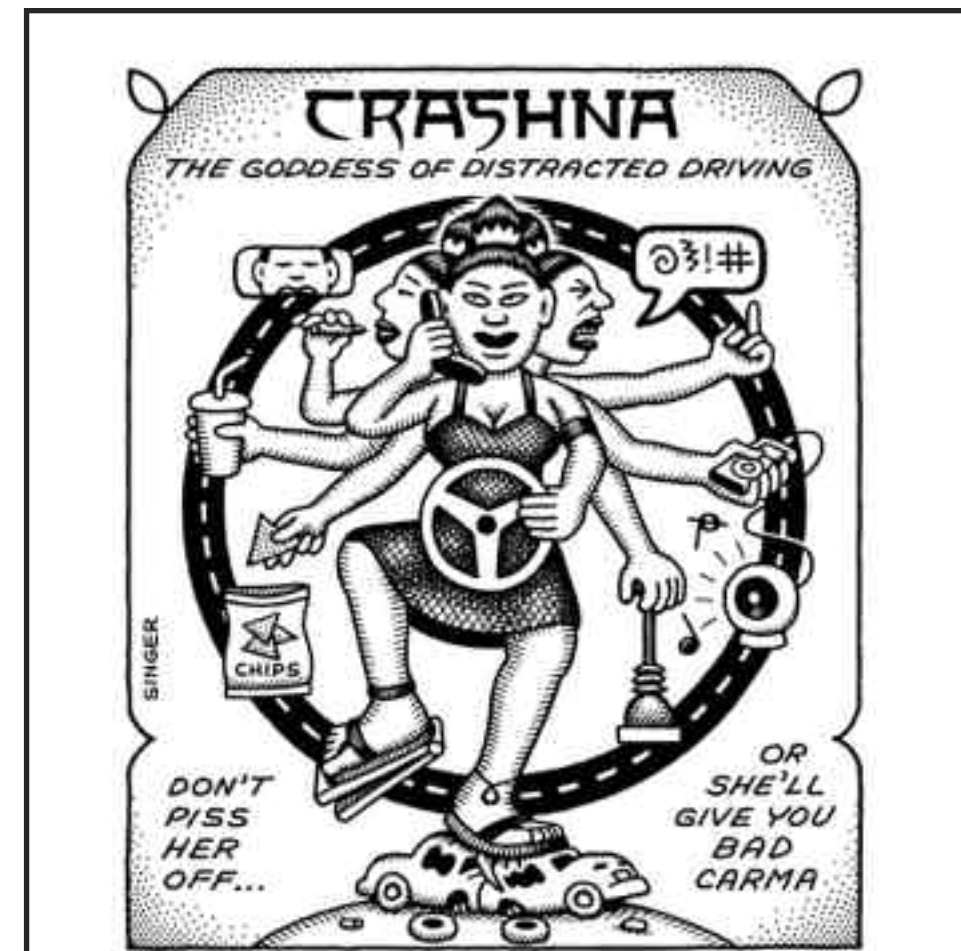

In prison, there are no screaming or whining children or spouses asking you to do something else for them, or screaming at you because you didn't.

At home, you get to listen to your children fight over the remote control and get treated to hours and hours of mindless cartoons thanks to cable.

At home, you get to clean for days in advance and then cook and clean up after your guests and hope that they will

At home, you get to take care of them yourself, plus everybody else's, and get

Gentle ways to say someone is stupid

1. As smart as bait.
2. He has an IQ of 2 and it takes 3 to grunt.
3. Warning: Objects in mirror are dumber than they appear.
4. Dumber than a box of hair.
5. A few beers short of a six pack.
6. The wheel's spinning but the hamster is dead.
7. A few feathers short of a whole duck.
8. An experiment in artificial stupidity.
9. If he had another brain it would be lonely.
10. Proof that evolution can go in reverse.
