Clean Words that Sound Dirty

The English language is loaded with dirty words and it is also loaded with clean words that sound dirty. If you have a dirty mind you may enjoy these words...

Philatelist: This word sounds like it represents a person who enjoys giving oral sex, but actually a philatelist is a stamp collector. Now if you happened to be a stamp collector who also enjoys performing plural sex, you would be one popular nerd.
Cunning Linguist: A cunning linguist is a person who is a shrewd speaker of multiple languages. This is not to be confused with a person who is a shrewd giver of multiple organisms.

Angina: A condition characterized by suffocating, painful spasms (such as a heart attack) is known as angina. So remember, if the doctor tells you that your wife has "acute angina," he is not talking about her hoo-hoo; he is simply warning you about a serious medical condition.

Masticate: When we eat, we masticate, or chew. If someone calls you an "excessive masticator," it means you eat too much. It doesn't mean he's been peeking in your bedroom window.

Thespian: A thespian is an actor, not a chick who digs chicks; unless, of course, that actor is Jody Foster, who also happens to be a chick who digs chicks.

Volvo: A warning to all men: It is important to know that if a woman offers to give you a ride in her Volvo, she is talking about her car! A mistake like that could get you five-to-ten.
Uranus: One of the planets that revolve around the sun is called Uranus, which is not the same thing as that area of your body where the sun don't shine.

Rectify: You may think that rectify is a word that relates to that area down under, but it isn't. It means to fix or correct, as in: "Fernando's hemorrhoids became so inflamed that he had to have surgery in that area down under in order to rectify the situation."

Cumquat: A cumquat is a fruit that resembles a small orange. It is not something to do when you squat.

Ramrod: A ramrod is also referred to as a "packing stick" which was used with muzzle-loading weapons to push the bullet up against the gunpowder in the 19th century. Unfortunately it is not a well endowed energetic man. If it was there would be more women living on Ramrod Key.

What To Do At The Funeral Of Someone You Dislike

- Tell the widow you're sure you saw him move.
- Go to the funeral dressed as the deceased, and call the widow a fraud.
- Bring a dog to the funeral and have him play dead.
- Sign the deceased's name in the guest register.
- Bring a shovel to the church.
- Ask the widow if you think it would do any good to shake him.
- Put waxed lips on the body.
- Ask the widow how long she's been sure he's dead.
- Tell the widow a lot of his favorite TV shows were cancelled anyway.
- Put a bumper sticker on the hearse that says, "I'd rather be breathing!"
- Ask the widow how long it will be before she starts dating.
- Tell the deceased's mother that you never expected them to go in this order.
- Hide behind the casket and talk to the mourners as they kneel in front of the body.
- Send the widow a singing telegram from the deceased.
- Ask the widow if you can take a finger.
- Tell the widow in a loud stage whisper, "I'll bet this is costing you a pretty penny."
- Tell the widow that the body doesn't look comfortable.
- Ask the widow if she's aware of any job openings.
- Tell the widow you think he'd look better on his side.
- Tell the widow you suspect foul play.
- Entertain the guests with a hand-puppet replica of the deceased.
- Put a lit cigarette in the deceased's mouth.
- Put a pair of shoes under the coffin.
- Wear a "Grateful Dead" t-shirt to the wake.

Ending a Friendship

 a screen door in a hurricane. Soon you notice that people around you are beginning to treat you disrespectfully.

It could be that this person is always sloppy drunk. You know that your standards are different but do others? People will naturally associate you with who you are with.

The Addict
 Drugs, alcohol, gambling, sex - whatever the addiction, the addict will eventually take so much that it's just not worth being friends anymore. You can only be expected to support the addict for so long. Nothing is more important to an addict than their drug of choice.

The User
 This person tends to always be friends with people who have something they need or like to use - a car, video games, a couch to sleep on, movies, food, etc. The test of this friendship is to start saying no. If the person still wants to spend time with you, then they are there for you. If you start cutting them off from your stuff and they start hanging out less this could be a good sign they are just using you.

The Abuser
 Friends should support, encourage, and love you. Yes, friends can challenge you to be a better person or make changes in your life, but this can be done in a loving and supportive way. The abuser tends to put you down, hurt you, and keep you down. The abusive friend will somehow convince you that you need them, despite how much they hurt you. It will be incredibly difficult to cut this friend from your life, as they will make it an effort to make your life miserable in the process. In the end, you'll realize how much better you are without the abuser in your life.

This list is not intended to tell you when to end friendships. Instead, use this list as a starting point for evaluating questionable friendships in your life. If your friends tend to take more than they give, don't be afraid to confront them about your concerns. Friends should be able to have open two-way communication. If things don't start to change consider the benefits of cutting that friend out of your life and moving on.
