Dear
Anny
Bannanny

Dear Anny Bannanny,

I really love your column and respect your opinion but a few months ago there was an article in the Coconut Telegraph about douchebags and I know that it was written about me. I am also the crack head and lousy bartender you wrote about. Why don't you find someone else to pick on? You can take your column and newspaper and stick it where the sun don't shine!

Yours Truly,
Douchebag Crackhead

Dear Douchebag Crackhead,

The douchebag article you are talking about was printed in the January 2012 issue of the Coconut Telegraph and was written by published author Ed Carbone, who moonlights as a bartender to support his writing habit. Anny Bannanny has had several calls wanting to know exactly whom that article was about. Unfortunately you are not the only one that thinks everything in this newspaper is all about you. That article was a compilation of characters that Mr. Carbone has known over the years as a bartender, it is not about just one individual. Perhaps if you took a break from your crack habit and got out of your drug-induced stupor, you might begin to realize that the world does not revolve around just you. However, to quote my famous Granny Bannanny, "If the douchebag fits, wear it!" Start with your head.

Sincerely,
Anny Bannanny

Centennial Bank's
Mark Todaro
Promoted,
Recognized With Chairman's Award

Centennial Bank is pleased to announce Mark Todaro's promotion to Vice President, Commercial Lending Officer. Mark Todaro is also a recipient of the first annual Home BancShares Chairman's Award, in recognition of his leadership and organized, proactive management style.

"Mark's commitment to his customers - combined with his dedication and resolve - exemplifies what make Centennial Bank a true community bank," said Teresa Condas, President, Centennial Bank, South Florida.

Mark was also recognized this year by the Community Foundation of the Florida Keys as an Unsung Hero for his work with 'Be the Change.' He is a past president of that organization. Mark is currently the president of the board of directors for Samuel's House, and is also involved with Kids Come First and Dancing Classrooms.

Mark has been a committee member for the Key West Chamber Golf Tournament since the event's inception in 2005. When he's not volunteering with these organizations, Mark can usually be found grilling under a Centennial Bank tent.

Originally from Michigan, Mark graduated from Michigan State University in 1979 with a degree in Business Management and has been a resident of Key West since 1998. Mark's daughter, Elise Filbrandt teaches math at Key West High School and her husband, Jordan, works with the Mel Fisher Museum.

Centennial Bank, a HomeBancshares (NASDAQ: HOMB) company, is a full-service financial institution with branches throughout Arkansas and Florida. For more information, please visit www.my100bank.com.
