Editorial - Think Again

For those who want to close the Keys to visitors: You have probably never owned your own business and never will. Thousands of businesses here and across the country have closed their doors forever due to Covid 19 and loss of revenue.

Imagine the Keys with no restaurants or hotels. You leave your house in the morning and where do you go? Nowhere, that's where. Your job is gone, you can't go out to eat or join friends at a bar because there aren't any, they are all closed down. You can't afford your rent and you face eviction, or your house is in foreclosure and your deed isn't worth the paper its printed on. Derelict boats will find new use as housing. Your cell phone has been turned off along with cable tv and internet service. You can't afford to run the air conditioner because your electricity is about to be shut off. Fewer people living here means taxes are going to go up. Your police are defunded and crime is rampant. Garbage collection is a thing of the past and our waters are polluted. Your car is busted and your mechanic moved out of the state. You must hitchhike to leave the county, just to wait in long lines in Miami to get health care. But wait! The good news is you may be eligible for food stamps...but the grocery store shelves are bare. Iguanas don't taste so bad after all. You can't afford to become an alcoholic and it's nearly impossible to grow weed on pea rock. Think again or thank a democrat.

Now this is a useful Venn diagram.

Question for my essential oil friends. Which oil calms housebound family members down? Chloroform? It's chloroform, isn't it?

Everyday COVID check.
At 7 p.m. open the whiskey bottle and smell it. if you can smell, you are not affected. then pour it in in a glass ... Taste it. if you can feel the taste, you are definitely not affected.
