I WENT TO A ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS MEETING. ANONYMOUS MY ASS. I KNEW EVERYONE THERE!

Cenosillicaphobia:
The fear of an empty beer glass.

As I walk through the valley of the Shadow of Death, I remind myself that you can't always trust Google Maps

PRO TIP:
Fill the Piñata with ketchup and you never have to host a children's birthday party again.
You're welcome.

I just realized the paper towels by the gas pump are for wiping away tears after filling your gas tank.

When the peasants start complaining that they can't afford gas.

Coconut Telegraph Redneck Hurricane Preparedness Guide

When you-know-what hits the fan and there is trouble, a redneck will always come out on top of the situation. What is their secret? Preparedness. And this is how they do it...

Booze: Hide the Budweiser and have a couple cans of Milwaukee's Best in case strangers stop by or you need to barter with neighbors. If you are too drunk to walk then take a kayak otherwise it will take you forever to get anywhere.

Food: Slim Jims and if you want to live large get some mustard for dipping, beef jerky, pork rinds and anything that was on the table that the dogs didn't eat and won't go bad without refrigeration.

Boat: A true redneck has a boat in his yard for years at a time without ever using it once. That's because it's for emergency purposes. I highly recommend a two-stroke motor that will always start after it's kicked a few times. Preferably that motor will be a Johnson, because jokes about your Johnson never get old. If kicking it doesn't work call Louie at Dockside Services, Louie can fix anything.

Pickup Truck: When a hurricane hits, it's certain that a redneck in a Ford F-150 that is held together with bondo and duct tape will be pulling your Lexus out of that ditch.

Dog: A dog will tell you if something is edible or not.

Flashlight: You need one in addition to the one the family uses at night to go pee in the canal so you don't fall in.

Radio with a Powerful Speaker: That way you have something to drown out the wife, kids, mother-in-law, your sister-in-law Crystal, your sister Crystal, cousin Crystal, and your neighbor Crystal and her daughter little Crystal. We recommend you tune in to Thunder Country 100.3 FM.

Home Security System:

1. Buy a pair of size 14-16 work boots.
2. Put them on the front porch with a copy of your most recent assault charge.
3. Put some giant dog dishes next to the boots and court papers.
4. Leave this note on your door: "Jake and Buster: I went to the store for more ammo and Walgreen's for booze. Back soon. Don't mess with the pit bulls; they messed the mailman up bad this morning. I don't think Satan took part; hard to tell from all the blood. I locked all four of 'em in the house. Better wait outside. Be right back."

Guns and Ammo: I'm not talking about the magazine. Looters will be shot on sight and their loved ones can buy their watches and rings back at the pawn shop. And personally, I'd like to say that if you have a gun then crocodile is always on the menu. If a disaster causes the traffic on US 1 to back up all the way to Islamorada you'll need nourishment. Get yourself prepared in case you have a shortage of rednecks in your area. Don't expect FEMA to be able to get to you or provide for you.

Last but not least organize a hurricane party. Meet me at the Big Chill where we can watch it better.

THINGS YOU WOULDN'T HEAR A REDNECK SAY

1. We don't keep firearms in this house.
2. You can't feed that to the dog!
3. No kids in the back of the pick-up, it's not safe.
4. Wrasslin's fake.
5. We're vegetarians.
6. Do you think my hair is too big?
7. Who is Richard Petty?
8. Deer heads detract for the decor.
9. Spitting is such a nasty habit.
10. I just couldn't find a thing at Wal-mart today.
11. Trim the fat off of that steak.
12. The tires on that truck are too big!
13. I've got two cases of Zima for the super Bowl.
14. Little Debbie snack cakes have too many fat grams.
15. She's too old to be wearing that bikini.
