

A truck carrying thousands of copies of thesauruses overturned this morning. Onlookers were stunned, startled, aghast, taken aback, stupefied, confused, shocked, rattled, paralyzed, dazed, bewildered, mixed up, surprised, awed, dumbfounded, non-plussed, flabbergasted, astounded, amazed, confounded, astonished, overwhelmed, horrified, numbed, speechless, and perplexed.

So Many Things to Ponder

Nobody is perfect. I am nobody; therefore I'm perfect.
If I save time, when do I get it back?
Take my advice, I don't use it anyway.
As I said before, I never repeat myself.
Sometimes I need what only you can provide: your absence.
A conscience does not prevent sin. It only prevents you from enjoying it!
Doesn't expecting the unexpected make the unexpected become the expected?
If it's true that we are here to help others, then, what exactly are the others here for?
How come abbreviated is such a long word?
Living on Earth may be expensive but it includes an annual free trip around the Sun.
Your future depends on your dreams. So go to sleep!
Alcohol kills slowly. So? Who's in a hurry?
Can you do anything that other people can't?
Sure... I can read my handwriting.

Entering into Partnership

In partnership and relationship, we harness the power of union.

The purpose of partnership is to create something greater than we can create alone. Not because of any deficiency or incompleteness in us, but because each of us is unique, with our own talents and abilities, and in partnership we increase the efforts and talents available for creating something meaningful together. All partnerships, whether romantic, creative, or professionally-based, can be powerful relationships for personal growth. In partnership we harness the power of union.

It is important to choose our partnerships consciously. Sometimes forged quickly during times of need, we may find ourselves rushing into unions with perhaps not the clearest intentions. Partnerships created from those starting point might serve our immediate needs, but the repercussions of a union so quickly fostered without much thought can be difficult to recover from. Granted, there is something to learn from every relationship, but looking to another to fix or complete us can turn a partnership into a dependent bond. If we can stay clear about what we want and what we need in a partnership, while staying grounded and remembering that we are our own source of happiness and fulfillment, we can create partnerships that support and enhance the best of who we are.

Everyone in our lives is a mirror reflecting back the parts we love and dislike about ourselves. If we have the courage to recognize our reflections in each other, we can grow through our partnerships. A partnership that offers both acceptance of who we are and an opportunity for personal transformation can be fertile ground for growing a healthy, lasting union. When we find this kind of partnership, we are more likely to want to keep it, invest in it, and nurture it.

Life is a collaborative effort. Much of what we do can be enhanced through partnership. Together we are stronger; our personal power is multiplied by two. Through partnership we experience the joys of working, living, and loving.
